January - June, 2014

GATEWAY TO JOBS

If you want to be an exceptional candidate, then you need to do exceptional preparation. Preparation is the number one thing that will set you apart from other candidates. Want to be more impressive? Prepare more. If you are obsessed with preparing for every aspect of the interview, then you will be ready to crush it.

Know why you are applying for this job. Yes, you want a job so that you can pay for your lifestyle. But what are your underlying motivations? Why are you driven towards this job? Why are you passionate about this position? How do your values match the values you will need to do your job? This is a deep question and if you know the answer to it, then you will understand what drives a lot of the answers you will give during the interview. You'll have a better idea of why you're a good fit for the job ... and that makes it easier for you to tell the recruiter why you're a good candidate.

Research everything you can about the company. You want to know about the place you're going to work not just so that you can sound intelligent in the interview, but so that you can figure out if it's a place that you actually want to work at. Even if this isn't a "career" for you, it's likely that you'll be in the job for a year or two. A year might not seem that long, but talk to anyone who hated their job for a full year ... and they'll tell you that one year is a long time. See what you can find on the company. You'll want to know what you're getting into.

Show them that you are familiar with that culture and that you're a good fit for it. Interviewers are looking for qualified candidates and people who fit in well with their community and culture. They want to be able to trust you, so show them that you display values that are consistent with their group.
